October is a month clearly marking change. It symbolizes transition, and here we have an opportunity to take the time we need to reflect and embrace transition. The curtain between worlds of our corporeal life and the existence of pure spirit becomes a thinner veil. It is also a time of radiance, creativity, communing closer with the Divine, through our own spiritual work. Within the process of transformation, patience, self-love, and kindness are fruits which help us to rest and digest. October ties us closer between the worlds of the seen and unseen, and can be a great teacher, if we allow.

REVIEWS

I never knew before that a lady homoeopath of India after having migrated to the USA about two decades ago had brought classical homoeopathic physicians of the world to one platform known as “Kavitha Holistic Approach” And “KHA Homeopathy Study Group“. She is none else than Dr Kavitha Kukunoor.

I was introduced to her by Dr Kulbhushan Bharadwaj of New Delhi two months ago. It is surprising how could Dr. Kavitha organize my webinar on “Evidence-based Homoeopathy in Dermatology” in such a short span of time. It shows her dedication and commitment to promote homoeopathy even during the Corona pandemic.

She is also publishing an online newsletter to give academic homoeopathic physicians a chance to share their evidence-based cases. This is again a praiseworthy initiative. Pooling and sharing of knowledge is the need of the hour.

I can only say that Dr Kavitha Kukunoor is a “Garland maker” because she is making a huge garland of budding as well as full bloom homoeopaths to spread the fragrance of homoeopathy around the globe. Long live Dr. Kavitha and KHA.

“It has been a great experience with Dr. Kavitha right from our journey from the time’s we were associated with “Homeopathy World Community” and Debby till the commencement of “KHA Homeopathy study group which she founded as an extension of Kavitha Holistic Approach, which was established in 2013”.. it was fun interacting in the lecture series organised by Dr Kavitha for the betterment of homeopathy in the United States and around the globe. I wish her and her team all the very best and a long road to success.”

The FDA is proposing to reclassify all homeopathic medicines in USA. This would allow them to declare all homeopathic medicines illegal, and withdraw any or all of them at any time.

This is a serious threat to the use of homeopathy as a healthy, alternative medicine. Our friends at Americans for Homeopathy Choice submitted a petition to the FDA urging them to reconsider this classification.

Now, we need your help. Our goal is 100,000 comments.
